

CASE STUDY

Seamless System Integration Makes Treasury Supply Inventory Management a Breeze

CHALLENGE

A major retail corporation with 1,200 stores in the U.S. and Canada, needed a treasury management product supplier that could integrate with the company's punchout platform so its stores could order supplies as needed. With an eye toward greater efficiency at the store level, the company's goal was to save managers and staff time and achieve just-in-time inventory management and fulfillment.

SEAMLESS PLATFORM
INTEGRATION, FROM ORDER
TO INVOICE

FLEXIBILITY TO MEET
SEASONAL VOLUME
FLUCTUATION

FULLY MANAGED SOLUTION

SOLUTION

The client discovered Vericast was uniquely equipped to provide its stores with the specific bank deposit products they required. The companies integrated their respective order and purchasing platforms. This meant that when stores placed orders for their bank deposit products the orders were directly transmitted to the Vericast production facility for immediate fulfillment. For additional efficiency, Vericast's invoicing process then linked back to the client's punchout platform for billing.

Vericast capabilities extended beyond process to include product as well. Vericast created specialized, larger capacity bank deposit bags to accommodate the client's holiday selling season. It automatically ships larger bags to high-volume stores during the season, then automatically switches back to standard-sized bags when the season is over.

RESULTS

Vericast successfully collaborated with the client for seamless system integration to meet their treasury management products business objectives. Even better, Vericast is able to fully manage the treasury management solution with minimal involvement required from the client's internal resources.

Many variables impact campaign success. The information contained within this case study is provided for demonstrative purposes only. Vericast does not guarantee or warrant earnings or a particular level of success with a campaign.

© 2022 Vericast / All Rights Reserved / CS1196

Learn how Vericast can help you streamline operations and reduce costs.

Contact@Vericast.com vericast.com

VERICAST